Pender Veterinary Clinic

Pender Emerson

Love Mixed-Animal Medicine? You'll Feel Right at Home Here.

At Pender Veterinary Clinic, we're a true mixed-animal practice where no two days look the same and your work truly matters. We are rooted in feedlot and cow/calf medicine while also caring for small animals, supported by a Fear-Free Certified Licensed Veterinary Technician, giving you the variety, challenge, and hands-on experience that keeps your career exciting. We believe in a relaxed, collaborative environment where we work hard, laugh often, and enjoy the people we work with just as much as the work we do. If you're looking for meaningful mixed-animal medicine and a place you'll be excited to come to every day, we'd love to meet you!

A Team You Can Count On

Whether it's spontaneous team gatherings, local events, or celebrating together just because, we're proud of the close, family-style culture we've built, and our clients feel it too. Pender and Emerson are places where people wave, gather, and truly look out for one another. It's an environment where you'll feel supported, appreciated, and encouraged to grow.

Equipped for Mixed-Animal Excellence

Our practice supports both production and pet patients, allowing you to build broad clinical skills while making a real impact for the clients and communities we serve. Our services and capabilities include:

- In-house diagnostics with IDEXX Catalyst and ProCyte
- Digital radiography and pregnancy ultrasound
- Feedlot and herd health services including custom feedlot work, BSEs, freeze branding, and calf blood transfusions
- Small-animal care including preventive medicine, spay and neuter procedures, and laceration repair
