

Caring for Pets of All Shapes, Sizes, and Species

For more than 30 years, PetCare Animal Hospital has been a trusted part of the Cincinnati community, caring for everything from dogs and cats to birds, reptiles, and exotic pets. With locations in both Loveland and Blue Ash, the hospital has built a reputation as a go-to resource for avian and exotic medicine while continuing to provide strong general practice care across a wide variety of patients. The practice is led by a partner doctor with more than 40 years of veterinary experience, creating an environment where mentorship, practical knowledge, and teamwork naturally shape the day-to-day experience. The team also works closely with local rescues, including reptile rescues, wild bird organizations, and traditional dog and cat rescue groups, deepening the hospital's connection to the surrounding community.

A Team That Steps In Wherever Help Is Needed

At PetCare Animal Hospital, teamwork feels practical and genuine. Staff members are cross-trained across different areas of the clinic, which means people regularly jump in to help wherever support is needed rather than staying boxed into one role. Doctors talk through complicated cases together, technicians and assistants stay heavily involved in patient care, and the team works through challenges as a group. If there is a roadblock, someone is already offering ideas to help solve it. That shared investment in patient care creates an environment where people feel supported while still staying engaged and hands-on throughout the day.

Designed to Support Diverse Cases

With two full-service locations, PetCare Animal Hospital offers the flexibility and variety that comes from serving a broad client base across the Cincinnati area. Both the Loveland and Blue Ash hospitals include three exam rooms, dedicated surgical suites, and treatment areas designed to support efficient, hands-on patient care. The Blue Ash location also offers boarding, hospitalization, and grooming services.
